Opportunities aren't all sorts of utility bills that always knock on the door. Some know this, and some are unaware of it and miss out on the luck and opportunity that has come to them. This prolongs the completion of a solid foundation that must be built for his life, for his future. In fact, we see in some people that there are people who have no foundation for that future. There are a lot of young people among us who do not see the opportunities created for them, do not use them, and do not know that in fact the opportunity is for him. You have to take advantage of the opportunities. Opportunities need to be sought. If there is no opportunity, then man must create it for himself. To someone who hasn't taken advantage of the present, the new opportunities of tomorrow may seem easier to him, but tomorrow is still tomorrow in its own right. He will not wait for us tomorrow as he did not expect us today, he will submit to the passage of time, both today and tomorrow. So we need to use it at a time when we have enough, but not enough. It is gratifying to see the new reforms taking place in our country at the moment. Various structures, buildings, or new opportunities are being created and widely promoted in every field. Extensive work is being done in the field of culture. Attention to the representatives of Art and Culture is growing. There is great hope that the development of education and the high attention paid to education will make a significant contribution to the prosperity of "New Uzbekistan". The initiatives of the head of our state, President Shavkat Miromonovich Mirziyoyev, and the slogan "Let's build a new Uzbekistan together" throughout the country have given a special power to the representatives of all spheres.

The motto of the head of our state "Let's build a new Uzbekistan together" can easily prove that great opportunities are created and exist for all spheres. For example, a draft "road map" for the implementation of economic research and reforms, development and development strategies was also submitted for public discussion. The draft development strategy consists of seven priorities and is based on the tasks set out in the report of President Shavkat Mirziyoyev at the joint session of the Oliy Majlis chambers dedicated to the opening of the newly elected President. The info graphic of the Center for Economic Research and Reforms outlines the third direction of the New Uzbekistan strategy - the development of the national economy and its growth. In particular, over the next five years, GDP per capita is expected to increase 1.6 times, and per capita income will reach $ 4,000 by 2030, as a result of which Uzbekistan will have a number of "average incomes". States that are high". It is obvious that special attention is paid to economic development, the interests of the people and the personal income of the people. It follows that a wide range of opportunities is being created and created, from our farmers to our carpenters. It is becoming a difficult task to see the end of the attention and opportunities paid to the development of art and culture. Attention is rising to a very high level in the field of art and culture. The fact that various competitions, festivals and events are held is a clear example of this. The only thing left for young people like us and the representatives of this field is to make effective use of the decisions and late opportunities created by the President for the development of the arts and culture. Students of art and culture universities were given the opportunity to open various art clubs in schools. For our regions, where there is no theater, the construction of various theaters and concert venues is underway.

The wide range of conditions and opportunities provided to the arts and culture, as well as to the sports sector, is certainly commendable. Of course, our achievements in it are not less than the attention paid to it. Even if we take as an example the achievements of the boys of our country in the sport of boxing, a feeling of high price rises in our hearts. The President pays special attention to the development of sports infrastructure on the ground. It has also been tasked with attracting entrepreneurs to build private sports facilities, workouts, mini-football, badminton, street ball courts and gyms. The head of our state has established sports tests for the population on the level of physical fitness and awarded benefits to its winners. It was noted that these championships should be organized among schoolchildren and gradually among the population. It is known that every district and city in Uzbekistan specializes in one of the priority, promising and developing sports. Based on this system, it was stressed the importance of holding major competitions in the region and training potential athletes. To this end, the National Olympic Committee is organizing the activities of all sports federations, linking them to districts and cities, and developing the Olympic movement on the ground. Under the motto "Building a New Uzbekistan Together" mentioned above, the basis of all developing areas is, of course, the quality and process of education. It is no secret that in our country, the quality of education in any field is given wide attention and late opportunities are created. Reading competitions and international contests are held regularly. Failure to make effective use of the opportunities provided by our President in the field of education is, in a sense, a "joy of satiety." In fact, the head of state has been creating jobs for students who have not yet graduated from the university and attracting them to work. The opening of branches of foreign universities in our country is also one of the great opportunities for the quality of education. In addition, new universities are being established, and in general, a new era and new perspectives are entering our "New Uzbekistan". In fact, our government is creating new opportunities just as it is about to end. In an interview with a newspaper, the President said: "I want to say openly: my nature cannot accept such a fake life. Our people have trusted me, to justify this high confidence, to create decent living conditions for our people - the meaning of my life. As long as I take responsibility for the fate of millions of people, it is impossible for me to take a different approach to reforms, to leave everything as it is.

I repeat: we have to do everything in front of us, on our own, no one from abroad will solve any problem for us, "said the President.

One who is inspired by these words? With these words, it is not surprising that our President has hinted at the further development of our country and the creation of many opportunities in the future. Given our opportunities, would it be the right decision for us to complain to anyone from now on?

Of course not!

Now is the time to take full advantage of the opportunities that are being created for us, this is the time to use the product. Therefore, it is necessary to intensify research and action, and only to move forward. The actions and aspirations of every aspiring citizen of today, our "New Uzbekistan" will not go unnoticed.
